HELP OFFERED

SELF-CONFESSED shopaholic Tali Shine is spreading the word.

A media and communications graduate, she has written and published The Glam Girl's Guide to Sydney Shopping to help those with less know-how navigate Sydney's fashion streets.

She attributes some of her expertise in the field to seven months spent in New York, studying journalism and reporting the New York Mercedes Fashion Week.

But she is keen to emphasise that the book is not for bargain-hunters. "It opens the golden gates to Luxe with a capital L," she says.

A portion of the proceeds from her book will be donated to the Fashion Targets Breast Cancer Appeal.
